

Help us ‘draw the future’ for Solana Beach:
participate in the City’s current move from citywide to by-district Council elections.

What is changing?

Solana Beach is changing how our Councilmembers are elected.

Instead of running citywide, starting in 2020 Councilmembers will be elected to represent separate election districts in the City.

The first step in this change is drawing a map of districts. The Council is asking for your input on this important change for the City.

How can you help?

Using the map on the back of this flyer, you can sketch the Council election districts you think make the most sense for Solana Beach.

Or share your thoughts by email, by phone, or at public hearing.

Once all of the initial draft maps are released May 23rd, let the Council know which map(s) you prefer, and what changes you think would make the maps better.

Visit the City website (www.ci.solana-beach.ca.us) for more details, and to see the draft maps (after May 23).
